	Lonrho	UK	Agribusiness	25,000	Rice		Done (50-yr lease)	In 2005, all that remained of Lonrho, once one of the largest foreign companies in Africa, was a hotel in Mozambique and £20 million in cash. Then David Lenigas became the new CEO and, with the support of the chairman Geoffrey White, an adviser to Qatari emir Sheikh Khalifa Al Thani, Lonrho launched a new wave of investments in Africa. The company took over hotels, airlines and infrastructure, but its focus is agribusiness. It now exports fish from Mozambique and runs a vertically integrated subsidiary that grows produce on farms in southern Africa for export to European supermarkets. Lonrho has recently been expanding its agricultural land holdings. In 2009, it acquired a 50-year lease for 25,000 ha of farmland in Angola, and commenced feasibility studies for 25,000 ha of agricultural land in Malawi and up to 100,000 ha in Mali. White says that the company will focus on horticulture. "We don't think there's risk in non-cereal farming. If there's a famine, people won't come after our green peppers."

In April 2010, the company announced plans for a US$300-million soybean project in Bahia, Brazil that would include infrastructure construction and control over 100,000 ha of land, with option to expand to 200,000 ha. Brazilian authorities publicly denied that the deal involved the transfer of lands, but, in February 2011, Huang Qifan, the mayor of Chongqing, in an interview with state TV channel CCTV, reiterated that the company had been allocated the land and that the project would be managed by a joint venture company 70% owned by Chongqing Grain and 30% by Brazilian investors, with partnerships worked out with local producers. He also said that the company would invest US$879 million in the project, with much of this being provided by the Development Bank of China. Chongqing's Brazilian project is part of an overall US$3.4-billion plan the company has to outsource food production overseas. In April 2011, it said that, apart from soybean production in Brazil, it would pursue the production of oilseed rape in Canada and Australia, rice in Cambodia and palm oil in Malaysia.

Liberia	SIFCA	Côte d'Ivoire	Agribusiness	8,800	Oil palm	US$64 million	Done	In March 2011, the Government of Liberia and SIFCA signed an agreement involving the rehabilitation of an 8,800-ha oil-palm plantation, currently occupied by local farmers, and a 6,000-ha outgrower scheme. SIFCA was given a 25-year lease on the lands. In January 2012, SIFCA signed a subsequent agreement with the government to expand its rubber plantations from 8,000 ha to 35,000 ha in Maryland and River Gee counties. SIFCA is partly owned by Wilmar and Olam of Singapore.
	Libyan African Investment Portfolio	Libya	Government	15,000	Rice	US$30 million	Done	In December 2007, Libyan African Investment Portfolio, owned by Libya's sovereign wealth fund, invested US$30 million in a rice project in Liberia managed in partnership with the Government of Liberia and a local NGO created to implement the project, Foundation for African Development Aid (ADA). ADA was granted a 20-year concession on 15,000 ha of land where it intended to grow hybrid rice varieties from China. In May 2010, Liberia's President Sirleaf announced that the project had collapsed, owing to the overthrow of the Kadhafi regime, and that her government was in the process of identifying a new investor to replace ADA.

	Sime Darby	Malaysia	Agribusiness	220,000	Oil palm	US$3.1 billion	Done	Malaysia's Sime Darby is the world's largest agribusiness company and palm-oil producer. In 2009, the company was granted a 63-year lease for a 220,000-ha concession for palm-oil production spanning the counties of Grand Cape Mount, Bomi, Bong and Gbarpolu. According to the NGO Green Advocates, after local residents filed an appeal to the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil, Sime Darby froze its operations and began meeting directly with the villagers. But Liberia's President Sirleaf stepped in and ended the discussions, telling the communities that attempts to defend their land rights "undermined" the Liberian government.
	Golden Agri Resources	Singapore	Agribusiness	220,000	Oil palm	US$1.6 billion	Done	Partnership between Golden Agri Resources (GAR) (through Golden Veroleum, a subsidiary of the New York-based Verdant Fund LP) and the Government of Liberia announced in August 2010. The concession is located in Sinoe County. GAR is the world's second-largest palm-oil plantation company, with a total planted area of 448,900 ha in Indonesia. Flamengo International, the holding for the Widjaja Family of Indonesia, owns 50% of GAR.
	Equatorial Palm Oil	UK	Agribusiness	169,000	Oil palm	US$100 million	Done	EPO has three concessions between Buchanan and Greenville, totalling 169,000 ha. In February 2011, the company's Liberian palm-oil plantations and assets were incorporated into a 50-50 joint venture with Biopalm Energy, a Singaporean company controlled by Indian billionaire C. Sivasankaran, which has recently acquired other large-scale palm-oil concessions in Cameroon and Sierra Leone.
	Dominion Farms	US	Agribusiness	17,000	Rice and other crops		Done	Dominion Farms is owned by Calvin Burgess, a wealthy American who made his fortune in construction and real estate. Burgess set up the company to develop rice farms in Africa. It established its first farm on a 7,000-ha piece of land in the Yala Swamp area in Kenya that it obtained on a 25-year lease. In 2009, Calvin Burgess announced that he has found investors to replicate his Kenyan farm model in Liberia.

Madagascar	COMPLANT	China	Agribusiness, construction	10,000	Sugar cane		Done	The China National Complete Import and Export Corporation Group (COMPLANT) functioned as a foreign-aid office for China until 1993, and while it now trades on the Shenzhen Stock Exchange, its controlling shareholder is the State Development & Investment Corporation, the largest state-owned investment holding company in China. The company is involved in a number of construction and infrastructure projects overseas, and several agricultural projects. In 2010, COMPLANT's subsidiary Hua Lien International announced plans to establish a joint venture with COMPLANT and the US$5-billion China-Africa Development Fund to set up ethanol projects in various African countries. The three companies plan to launch the venture in Benin and roll out to other countries in the coming years. The venture will draw on COMPLANT's numerous recent investments in sugar-cane and cassava production, including an 18,000-ha sugar-cane plantation in Jamaica, a proposed 4,800-ha sugar-cane and cassava venture in Benin, a 1,320-ha sugar-cane plantation and factory in Sierra Leone, where in 2006 it also announced plans to expand its holdings to 8,100 ha to begin production of cassava. In Madagascar COMPLANT has been running the SUCOMA sugar factory since 1997 and, in 2008, under a twenty-year management contract, it took over the state-owned sugar refinery SUCOCOMA, giving it control over 10,000 ha for sugar-cane production.
	Landmark	India	Agribusiness	150,000	Maize		Done	In 2006, the Indian company Land Mark signed a protocol with a local chief in the Ihorombe Plateau in the south-centre of Madagascar for a 25-year lease covering 5,000-150,000 ha. The company has established a 1,000-ha maize operation on the lands, with plans to expand the farm to 5,000 ha. In October 2010, IfocapAdour reported that the company had built a maize-storage facility with a 5,000-tonne capacity next to the farm, but it was lying empty after the first harvest had failed. Some of the affected communities are reported to not have been consulted about the project.
	Les Cultures du Cap Est	India	Agribusiness	9,100	Oil palm		Done	In 2010, GTZ reported that Les Cultures du Cap Est, a company controlled by Indian investors, had acquired 9,100 ha in Madagascar for palm oil production.

	Lonrho	UK	Agribusiness	25,000	Rice		In process	In 2005, all that remained of Lonrho, once one of the largest foreign companies in Africa, was a hotel in Mozambique and £20 million in cash. Then David Lenigas became the new CEO and, with the support of the chairman Geoffrey White, an adviser to Qatari emir Sheikh Khalifa Al Thani, Lonrho launched a new wave of investments in Africa. The company took over hotels, airlines and infrastructure, but its focus is agribusiness. It now exports fish from Mozambique and runs a vertically integrated subsidiary that grows produce on farms in southern Africa for export to European supermarkets. Lonrho has recently been expanding its agricultural land holdings. In 2009, it acquired a 25,000-ha lease for farmlands in Angola, and commenced feasibility studies for 25,000 ha of agricultural land in Malawi and up to 100,000 ha in Mali. White says that the company will focus on horticulture. "We don't think there's risk in non-cereal farming. If there's a famine, people won't come after our green peppers."

	China Light Industrial Corporation for Foreign Economic and Technical Cooperation	China	Industrial	20,000	Sugar cane	US$41 million	Done	In 1996, the Malian government and the China Light Industrial Corporation for Foreign Economic and Technical Cooperation (CLETC) entered into a joint venture to establish the Mali Sugar Conglomerate, with CLETC holding 60% of the company and the government holding 40%. The Conglomerate took control of two sugar factories that had been built with Chinese assistance in the 1960s and 1970s and sugar-cane plantations on 5,700 ha. In 2009, the Malian government signed a deal with CLETC to establish a new sugar project, in which CLETC was given a 50-year renewable lease on 20,000 ha of lands in the Office du Niger for irrigated sugar-cane production.
	Agro-énergie Développement	France	Agribusiness	2,605	Sunflower		In process	Agro-énergie Développement (AgroEd) is a company set up to invest in vertically integrated biofuels and food production in developing countries. It is 51% owned by France's LMBO Finances, with France's former Minister of Defence Charles Million as a director (although LMBO launched a legal suit against Million in 2010 for mismanaging funds for the benefit of other companies he was involved in). The company's acquisitions of farmland in West Africa are said to be mainly for jatropha, such as its November 2007 deal with Burkina Faso for 200,000 ha and its deal with Mali for 30,000 ha in the Office du Niger. However, the company has acquired 1,700 ha for sunflower in Burkina Faso and does intend to invest further in food-crop and cotton production, not merely biofuels.

	Libya African Investment Portfolio	Libya	Government	100,000	Livestock, rice, vegetables		Done	In May 2008, the Government of Mali and the Kadhafi Government of Libya signed an investment agreement giving Malibya, a subsidiary of the Libyan sovereign wealth fund's Libyan African Investment Portfolio, a 50-year renewable lease covering 100,000 ha in the Office du Niger. The land was given for free on condition that Malibya develop the lands for irrigated agricultural production. Malibya was also given unlimited access to water for a small user fee. By 2009, Malibya had completed a 40-km irrigation canal and had announced plans for the production of hybrid rice, but the project was suspended when the Kadhafi regime collapsed in 2011. In January 2012, representatives of Libya's new government, the National Transitional Council, stated that they would maintain "good" investments in Mali and pursue agricultural projects in Africa, referring only to Sudan and countries "close to Libya".
	Foras International Investment Co	Saudi Arabia	Finance	100,000	Rice		In process	Foras has completed a pilot study on 5,000 ha it has under a long-term lease in the Office du Niger, and now intends to expand to 50,000-100,000 ha, as part of a larger project to cultivate rice on 700,000 ha in various African countries. Foras acts as the investment arm of the Organization of the Islamic Conference. Its main shareholders and founders are the Islamic Development Bank and several conglomerates from the Gulf region, including Sheikh Saleh Kamel and his Dallah Al Barakah Group, the Saudi Bin Laden Group, the National Investment Company of Kuwait and Nasser Kharafi, the world's 48th-richest person and owner of the Americana Group.
	Associated British Foods	UK	Agribusiness	17,000	Sugar cane		Done	In 1999, USAID contracted the US company Schaffer and Associates to undertake a feasibility study for a sugar refinery in Mali's Office du Niger. Schaffer subsequently formed the Société Sucrière de Markala (Sosumar), with African sugar giant Illovo, a subsidiary of Associated British Foods, coming in as a majority owner. In 2007, Schaffer, Illovo and the Government of Mali signed a contract allocating Sosumar a 50-year lease on 17,000 ha of lands for sugar-cane plantations. Illovo says that the project's implementation "remains dependent upon the Government of Mali fulfilling certain undertakings", while a US Embassy cable released by Wikileaks indicates that the delay is due to competing claims to the land by another sugar refinery in the area, owned by China Light Industrial Corporation for Foreign Economic and Technical Cooperation.
	Farm Lands of Guinea, Inc	UK	Agribusiness	10,000	Maize, rice, soybeans, wheat		In process	Farm Lands of Guinea (FLG) is a company based in Gibraltar and registered in the British Virgin Islands. On 16 September 2010, with a military junta in control of the Government of Guinea, FLG signed agreements with Guinea's Ministry of Agriculture giving it 99-year lease rights to over 100,000 ha of agricultural lands where it intends to grow maize and soybeans. Late in 2011, FLG reported that its representatives had been in Sierra Leone and The Gambia prospecting for lands. And, in November 2011, after a meeting with the Minister of Agriculture and the Director General of Mali's Office du Niger in November 2011, FLG made a proposal for 10,000 ha in the Office du Niger.
